Bossaball bounces onto the beach

1 It is like football, combined with volleyball, played on an inflatable court with trampolines on a beach. It is bossaball, and it has arrived here.

2 Bossaball was created in 2002 by a Belgian living in Spain and the first league was established in Belgium shortly afterwards. Other leagues have since appeared in countries such as Romania, Singapore and Saudi Arabia. The object of bossaball is to score points by grounding the ball on the opponents' court. Players do this by jumping on a trampoline that throws you up in the air. The game requires acrobatic skills, while players move their bodies in the air.

Successful shots by a player on the trampoline are worth three points, while shots from the court are worth one. The "bossa" is an inflatable ring that surrounds the trampoline and does not count as the court. The first team to 25 points wins the set and games consist of three sets.

Beach sports are very popular in the UAE, with many people living here thinking of the beach as the natural place for sports. Volleyball is the most subscribed sport with over 180 players in 26 different teams in the local league. Bossaball has arrived here and is now very popular.
