In September 2014, Danell Lynn got on her motorcycle in Phoenix, Arizona and rode across the US. She visited 48 states and didn't stop riding for a year. She slept in a tent every night, ate outside, made a lot of new friends, and never got lost.

She traveled 78,000 kilometers. It was the longest motorcycle journey in the US. Danell only started riding motorcycles in 2010, so why did she go across the US? She did it because she loves going places.

When she was very young, she enjoyed visiting Europe with her mom and dad, and in 2009, she had a great time in Cuba. She's a world traveler!
