C. FCE PRACTICE

For questions 9–16, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Write your answers IN CAPITAL LETTERS on the separate answer sheet.

Tip! Try reading the previous words or the previous sentence to help you choose the gapped word.

Example: 0 W O U L D

The ability to use both hands

If asked, most people (0) say that most individuals are right-handed, some are left-handed and a few are 'ambidextrous' – they can use both hands equally well. In fact, the truth (9) the matter is somewhat more complicated. For one thing, the true scientific definition of 'ambidextrous' is (10) able to write equally well with either hand, and only 1% of people fall into (11) category.

Certainly, some people are very strongly right or left dominant when it (12) to using their hands and legs. But many people are (13) entirely individual mix: for example, someone might be a right-hander for playing tennis but a left-footer in football.

Of course, top sportspeople sometimes try to train themselves (14) be equally capable with both sides of the body. The (15) can be said of people in other professions. A carpenter or mechanic who can learn to use tools with his weaker hand will find things much easier and is far (16) likely to suffer from repetitive strain injuries.

Advice

9 You need a preposition here to complete a very common fixed phrase.

10 You could put 'the ability to' here, which you can see is a noun phrase. So you need a grammatical word which can be a kind of noun.

11 The word you need refers back to the previous bit of information. Which grammatical word fulfills that function?

12 You need a verb here to complete a very common fixed phrase.

13 Read forward to the word 'mix' and think grammatically! You know that 'mix' must be a noun here because of the adjective 'individual' immediately before it.

14 'themselves' is a reference to somebody, a person. So what is the grammar of the verb 'train'?

15 Read the previous sentence to follow the argument here.

16 Consider the argument around the gap so that you don't fall into the obvious trap!

Tip! Remember that the gapped words are often part of bigger phrases.

For questions 9–16, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Preparing for my first running race

For the first 24 years (0) my life, I strongly disliked running. At school, I'd been completely put (9) running after being made to do cross country running in shorts in the middle of winter. But when I started my first job I found (10) socialising with a different set of people, who persuaded me to come and (11) a go at training in a gym.

(12) thing led to another, and I began to (13) my fitness seriously. I agreed to try a ten-kilometre race my friends had entered. I had three months in (14) to train. My very first training runs were (15) much of a success, so I combined gentle running and walking by myself, until my legs got more used to the activity.

My cautious approach seemed to be working. By the time I joined my friends for some practice runs, I was pleasantly surprised to find I could keep (16) with them.

9 Follow the exam instructions, using the advice to help you.

10 Listen for who actually went to New Zealand with Kelly.
