Section A: READING COMPREHENSION

Read the story below. Then answer questions.

45 Minutes

(10 Marks)

For Teacher's use only

In the village of Meadowbrook, a boy named Max was known as "Echo." Whenever someone called his name, Max couldn't resist repeating their words in a whisper, as if he were the village's own echo. His friends found it odd but endearing.

One day, a traveling theater group arrived, seeking a unique act. Max's friends encouraged him to audition. Reluctantly, Max stepped on stage. When the director asked his name, Max echoed it in his signature style. To his surprise, the audience erupted in laughter and applause.

Max became the "Echo Entertainer," touring with the group. His peculiar talent brought joy to crowds across the land. As he whispered their words back, he taught people that embracing their quirks could lead to unexpected adventures.

In Meadowbrook, the boy once dubbed "Echo" left a legacy of laughter and acceptance, proving that sometimes, being a little different can make all the difference.
