Read the passage, and choose the correct answer A, B, C or D for each question.

The concept of parental authority has changed. Today, no parent can take their children's respect for granted: authority has to be earned. Several studies have shown the following problems.

Trust: A lot of young people say their parents don't trust them. Some of them have no privacy: their parents read all their emails, and enter their rooms without knocking. All of these actions demonstrate lack of respect. Consequently, these teenagers have little respect for their parents.

Communication: Hardly any teens discuss their problems with their parents. That's because very few teens feel their parents really listen to them. Instead, most parents tend to fire off an immediate response to their kids' first sentence.

Freedom: Interestingly, most rebels come from very authoritarian homes where kids have very little freedom. Teens need fewer rules, but they have to be clear and unchangeable. Also, if the mother and father don't agree about discipline, teens have less respect for both parents. They also need a lot of support and a little freedom to take their own decisions. None of them enjoy just listening to adults.

Role models: Teens don't have much respect for their parents if neither of them actually does things that they expect their children to do. Like everybody, teens appreciate people who practise what they preach.

26. The clause "authority has to be earned" means that _____.
- A. parents have to earn a living in order to support their children and get their respect
B. parents can get respect from their children based on what they have done for them
C. parents have authority and power in the homes and children have to obey them
D. parents have to respect their children because they earn a living to support the family
27. When parents trust their child, they _____.

- A. read his emails
 - B. enter his room without knocking
 - C. earn little respect
 - D. respect his privacy
28. Rebels often happen in homes when _____.
- A. children have so little freedom and can't make their own decisions
 - B. parents have much authority over their children in the homes
 - C. the family rules are clear and unchangeable, but only a few
 - D. none of the parents enjoy listening to adults
29. Teens don't have much respect for their parents when _____.
- A. teens expect people to practise what they preach
 - B. their parents agree about discipline for their children
 - C. their parents don't set a good example to their children
 - D. their parents fire off an immediate response to them
30. The main idea of the passage is _____.
- A. how parents can improve communication in their home
 - B. the reasons why teens rebel against the parents' authority
 - C. what parents should or shouldn't do to gain the children's respect
 - D. how the concept of parental authority has developed throughout history
