Who were the Normans?

The Normans were the next group of people to rule England after the Anglo-Saxons. They built some of our most well-known castles, such as Windsor Castle and the Tower of London.

The Normans came from northern France, and invaded England in 1066 after King Edward the Confessor died without leaving an heir to the throne. They eventually defeated the Anglo-Saxons at the Battle of Hastings, when King Harold II was killed. The Normans ruled England for about 300 years.

1. The Normans came from northern France, in a region called Normandy.
2. The Normans invaded England in 1066 because they wanted to have Norman king in England after the Anglo-Saxon king died.
3. The first Norman king was William the Conqueror, who won the Battle of Hastings in 1066 against the Anglo-Saxons.
4. While the Normans planned their invasion, the Vikings were also interested in taking over England – they were led by Viking King Harald Hardrada.
5. William the Conqueror published the Domesday Book, which tells us a lot about the people who lived in England in the 11th century.
6. The Bayeux Tapestry tells a story in pictures about the Norman invasion of Britain and the Battle of Hastings.
7. The Bayeux Tapestry also tells us things about Norman life, such as what clothes, armour and even boats looked like.
8. The Normans also built stone castles – some of these are still standing today!
