

INSTRUCTIONS: Read how the games were played in the past and write the correct name for each description

Freeze tag	Hide & sick	Telephone
Tag	Hopscotch	Marbles

A) Sometimes you counted to twenty, sometimes ten, sometimes one hundred. Sometimes there was a home base where you could run to and tag, becoming "safe," sometimes you just waited to be found. The general idea was that one person was "it," that person closed his or her eyes and counted to a certain number without looking and then he or she tried to find the others.
B) You Used some sidewalk chalk and drew squares with number from one to nine. Picked a rock that is good for tossing. Started by tossing the rock onto Square 1. Hop over the rock and hopped with a single foot or both feet (to follow the hopscotch pattern) all the way to the end. Turned around and came back.
C) You drew a circle in the sand or on the sidewalk, and then took turns trying to knock each other's marbles out of the circle with your one large marble.
D) A group of kids decided who started as being "it." That person chased the other people around and tried to tag one of them with their hand. The newly tagged person was now "it."
E) Players sat in a circle. One person thought a sentence or phrase and whispered it to the next person. That person repeated it to the person on their other side. This continued around the circle. When it finally reached the last person, that person said the sentence out loud.
F) It was a variation of Tag where if the person who was "it" tagged you, you had to freeze where you were. Another participant tagged you to unfreeze you.
