F Read Jessica's blog. Then circle the word or phrase that best completes each sentence. [10 POINTS]

Happy Thanksgiving! I hope everyone had a good holiday. I didn't post yesterday because we had a huge dinner at my great-aunt Susie's house. My extended family was all there: my cousins, aunts and uncles, and nieces and nephews. The great thing about Thanksgiving is that everyone cooks. Each person brings a dish. My favorite dish this year was my brother-in-law Andy's apple-cranberry pie.

I made baked broccoli with chestnuts. I'm not afraid of trying new recipes, but this time it was a mistake. I noticed that people weren't eating it, and when I tasted it, I knew why. It was awful! My great-uncle Pete loudly joked that whoever ate the most baked broccoli would win a prize – a bottle of stomach medicine. The cool thing about Thanksgiving is you remember how much your family cares about you. And if you make a bad recipe choice, everyone's there to laugh along with you.

1. Thanksgiving dinner was at Jessica's great-uncle Pete's / great-aunt Susie's house.
2. Two people / The whole family did the cooking.
3. Jessica's brother-in-law made apple-cranberry pie / broccoli with chestnuts.
4. Jessica liked / didn't like the new recipe she tried.
5. The broccoli made everyone sick / laugh.
