Circle the cause and effect linkers. Use yellow for conjunctions, green for transitions, and black for prepositions. Then underline the cause sentence in blue and the effect sentence in red.

Choosing a Major: A Life-Changing Decision

Selecting a college major is a pivotal moment in a student's life. Because it determines the academic path they'll follow, it shapes their future career prospects. Since majors often dictate the courses they take, students develop specialized knowledge and skills. Therefore, their job opportunities and earning potential are directly influenced by this choice. As a result, a major can lead to fulfilling work, financial stability, and personal satisfaction. However, it's essential to choose wisely, because of the long-term consequences it carries.

Remember, the major you choose isn't just about coursework; it's about shaping your journey ahead!

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Now it's your turn!

Write 3 reasons why you chose your major. Write at least 1 sentence per each type of cause and effect linker.

Conjunction	Transition	Preposition

LIVEWORKSHEETS