I spent the last two weeks volunteering at a beach clean-up. It was an amazing experience. My roles included keeping the beach clean and reminding people not to litter. I met a lot of interesting people in my team, and we had a great time together. We worked in the mornings and afternoons. At night, we had parties and gathered around fires.

Volunteering at the New Nepal Society was such a pleasure, and the experience was incredible. In just a few days, I met so many kind and generous people, and I am forever thankful for this. I am also proud of myself because I helped a lot of poor children and homeless people. This work also allowed me to explore beautiful Nepal.

Teaching in Ghat was a nice experience. The same goes for the host family. One problem was that we had to walk 5 kilometers to get to the school. I taught poor children to read the alphabet and sing popular English songs. They really enjoyed learning English, and most of them were quick at learning. I feel so great because I could do a good thing for the community.
