

Options after leaving school

1. Match the following:

	University	Work market
Gap Year	Apprenticeship	Volunteering
	Military service

- A. It looks fantastic in any CV. It shows social awareness, a sense of social responsibility, and valuable working skills. And although sometimes you'll have to work your fingers to the bone, it's always rewarding. The possibilities for this type of work are endless but it's best to choose a post that will give you the most opportunities afterwards.
- B. For many students, the idea of leaving school only to continue to study elsewhere is, frankly, too much to bear. After so many years at school, why would anyone sign up for more of the same thing? But even though this may seem a more glamorous option, it also demands varying levels of obedience, thought and effort.
- C. It might be a great option for those interested in receiving supervised work experience, a classroom education, and a paycheck. You'll work with an experienced worker to learn a skilled trade and receive training both on the job and in the classroom.
- D. You'll get a steady paycheck, a place to eat and stay. You will make friends for life, be part of a community, and develop self-confidence. There's also the chance to travel around the world.
- E. If you still don't know what you want to do with your life, this could be the right option for you. It gives you time to discover yourself: likes and dislikes, strengths and weaknesses. When it is properly planned it can be a great investment, adding real value to your CV.
- F. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and postgraduate courses. Some courses lead to a specific career outcome while others offer a more general education. Here you can also have a Master or a PhD.
