

Listen and repeat. Then act out.

- Adverbs usually describe verbs and past participles, adjectives, other adverbs or whole sentences. She walks slowly. (How does she walk? Slowly.) extremely good, incredibly quickly
- They say how (adverbs of manner – carefully), where (adverbs of place – here), when (adverbs of time – yesterday), how much/to what extent (adverbs of degree – extremely) or how often (adverbs of frequency – usually) something happens. There are also sentence adverbs (probably, maybe, etc.) and relative adverbs (where, why, when).

Formation of Adverbs from Adjectives

- We usually form adverbs by adding -ly to the adjective. careful → carefully, serious → seriously
- 1 Adjectives ending in consonant + -y drop the -y and take -ily. cosy → cosily, happy → happily, angry → angrily
- 2 Adjectives ending in -ic add -ally. drastic → drastically, frantic → frantically
- 3 Adjectives ending in -le drop -le and add -ly. horrible → horribly, terrible → terribly
- 4 Adjectives ending in -e add -ly. scarce → scarcely, but: whole → wholly, true → truly
- 5 Adjectives ending in -ly (elderly, fatherly, friendly, lively, lonely, lovely, motherly, silly, ugly, etc) form their adverbs with in a(n) ... way/manner. in a silly manner, in a friendly way, etc.

Ann was our last guest. She came in last. Those adverbs with an asterisk (*) can be found with -ly ending without a difference in meaning, but then they are more formal. Walk slow! (informal)

Word Order of Adverbs

- Adverbs usually go after verbs but before adjectives, other adverbs and participles. They can be used in front, mid or end position in a sentence.

e.g. He speaks loudly.

He is amazingly handsome.

She runs very fast.

Mobile phones are extensively used nowadays.

Front	Mid	End
Obviously they will never see her again .

- Adverbs of manner go before the main verb, after the auxiliary verb or at the end of a sentence.

e.g. He easily answered the questions in the test.

We are eagerly waiting for his call.

She acted childishly.

- When there is more than one adverb in the sentence, their usual order is manner – place – time.

subject	verb	(object)	manner	place	time
He	watched	TV	quietly	in his room	until 6:00.

- When there is a verb of movement such as go, come or leave in the sentence, then the adverbs come in the following order: place – manner – time.

subject	verb	place	manner	time
Ann	was rushed	to hospital	suddenly	an hour ago.

- Adverbs of place and time usually go at the end of the sentence. Adverbs of time can go in the front position to emphasise the time.

e.g. Have you been here recently?

Every day he goes to the gym on foot.

- When there is more than one time adverb, we usually put the more specific ones before the more general ones (time – day – date – year). He was born at 22:15 on Monday, March 17th, 1958.
- Adverbs of frequency (often, seldom, never, ever, usually, normally, scarcely, rarely, always, etc.) go after the auxiliary verb (be, have, do), but before the main verb. In short answers, however, we put them before the auxiliary. She has never travelled abroad. "She never comes to work on time. She is often late." "Yes, she always is."
- Adverbs of degree (absolutely, completely, just, totally, extremely, quite, seriously, very, etc.) go before the adjective or the adverb they describe. He's absolutely hopeless at Maths. When these adverbs describe verbs, they go before a main verb or after an auxiliary verb. We quite enjoyed the film. I've quite finished.
Absolutely, completely and totally can go in the middle or end position. *He completely forgot our appointment. or He forgot our appointment completely. A lot, much, a little, a bit, awfully, terribly can go in the middle position (before adjectives) or end position (when they describe verbs). *I'm terribly sorry. My tooth hurts terribly.
- The adverbs already, no longer, hardly, nearly, almost, still go in the middle position. He nearly knocked the old lady down as he could hardly see her in the dark.
- Sentence adverbs (probably, certainly, possibly, perhaps, maybe, clearly, luckily, etc.) go in any position: front, middle or end. The front position is the most usual, though. Luckily, he didn't crash into the tree. He luckily didn't crash into the tree. He didn't crash into the tree, luckily. In negations certainly, possibly and probably usually go before the auxiliary or between two auxiliaries. He certainly didn't do it. He couldn't possibly have done it.
- We use adverbs after action verbs and adjectives after linking verbs: appear, be, become, get, feel, look, seem, smell, stay, taste. It tastes bad. (NOT: badly). She looked happy at the party. (Looked means 'appeared' here and is a linking verb.) She looked happily at the children. (Looked is an action verb here, not a linking verb, and 'happily' describes the action.)

11 Rewrite the sentences, putting the adverbs in the right position.
