

'Ah! The [redacted] girl,' he said. '[redacted], Jane Eyre!' Then he pointed at two of the [redacted] girls. 'You two girls — [redacted] Jane Eyre on that [redacted] chair!' he said.

'[redacted] at Jane Eyre, everybody!' Mr. Brocklehurst said. 'This child is bad. She is a [redacted] She will be punished! Miss Temple! Teachers! Girls! [redacted] to this child.'

Then he spoke to me again.

'Jane Eyre, you [redacted] stand on that chair for two hours,' he said. 'You are a [redacted] girl!'

That evening, I cried and cried. But Miss Temple was [redacted] to me.

'You are a [redacted] pupil, Jane,' she said. 'And you are not a bad girl. I am your friend, Jane.'

