That television set in your home can baby-sit your growing children. It can also silence them forever. The Consumers Association of Penang (CAP) gave this warning in a study on how violence on television could affect children. CAP said it was promoted to make the study when in January this year, the press came out with reports of for small Malaysian children who died within a week's span trying to imitate Ralph, the flying superman-like character in the popular television series "The Greatest American Hero".

Of the total viewing time, violence is shown plenty of times in a variety of forms. It may range from psychological violence like shouting which evokes fear, threats like "I like blow your head off" and cursing, to actual buildings. Cheating and blackmailing are also considered violent because they ruin the personality or the self-esteem of the victim. Consequently, Malaysian children (mostly below 10 years of age) are becoming confused as to the difference between reality and fantasy.

4. The author feels that TV isfor Malaysian children.

Witchdoctors and psychiatrists perform essentially the same function in their respective cultures. They are both therapists; both treat patients, using similar techniques; and both get similar results. Recognition of this should not downgrade psychiatrists - rather it should upgrade witchdoctors.

The term "witchdoctors" is Western in origin, imposed on healers of the Third World by 18th and 19th century explorers. The world was simpler then, and the newly discovered cultures were quickly assigned their proper status in the Order of Things. We were white, they were black. We were civilized, they were primitive. We were Christian, they were pagan. We used science, they used magic. We had doctors, they had witchdoctors.

Americans psychiatrists have much to learn from therapists in other cultures. What I learned from these doctor-healers was that I, as a psychiatrist, was using the same mechanisms for curing my patients as they were- and, not surprisingly, I was getting about the same results.

What kind of results do therapists in other cultures-witchdoctors- achieve? A Canadian psychiatrist, Dr. Raymond Prince, spent 17 months studying 46 Nigerian witchdoctors, and judged that the results were about equal to those obtained in North American clinics and hospitals.

It would appear, then, that psychiatrists have much to learn from witchdoctors. We can see the components of our own therapy system in relief. We can learn why we are effective - or not effective. And we can learn to be less arrogant about our own therapy and more tolerant of others. If we can learn all this from witchdoctors, then we will have learned much.

6. What is not the author's belief?

- a) Witchdoctors are uncivilized.
b) Psychiatrists are arrogant.
c) Witchdoctors are therapists.
d) Psychiatrists are intolerant.

7. From reading the passage, we may conclude that the author is

- a) a sympathetic person
b) a narrow-minded person
c) a reasonable person
d) a well-organized person

8. What is the attitude of the author towards witchdoctors?

- a) He acknowledges the witchdoctors' capability.
b) He condemns the witchdoctors' treatment of patients.
c) He is doubtful of psychiatrists' techniques of therapy.
d) He has a very high admiration for the healing process of the witchdoctors.
