

The talkative Tortoise

Group 1

A long time ago in India, there was a young king and a wise man who was the king's friend. This king was a good man but talked too much. In fact, sometimes the king could not stop talking.

The wise man thought, "I must help the king to be less talkative. But how?"

Not far away, there was a lake. A tortoise and two birds lived near the lake, and they were all good friends. One day, the birds said to the tortoise, "We are going to a beautiful mountain tomorrow. Would you like to come with us?"
