

The talkative Tortoise

Group 2

The tortoise answered, "How can I go with you? I can't fly." "We can take you," the birds said. "Hold a stick in your mouth, and we'll carry the stick between us."

"Thank you. You're very kind," said the excited tortoise.

"Bite on the stick, and don't talk. If you open your mouth, you'll fall," the birds said. The next day, the king and the wise man saw the two birds in the sky.

"Look!" said the king. "Those birds are carrying something! What is it?"
