Teaching assistants help teachers and students in schools and _____. They prepare equipment and clean away after the class. Teaching assistants may _____ with just one student or a group. They also help with trips and look after students who are upset or ill.

Teaching assistants need to be understanding. They must be good communicators and be good at maths and _____.

School lunchtime supervisors look after _____ in the playground and help them with meals. Small children may need food to be cut up and helped to behave and have good table manners. Lunchtime _____ may organise games and they may have to help children who are upset. Lunchtime supervisors work part-time

Play workers may work in schools or in the community. They set up play areas with equipment and serve _____ and snacks. They also keep records and deal with money and may have to deal with _____ so a first-aid certificate is useful.

Sports coaches work with young people or adults. They may work with professional sports people or with community teams or school groups. They give _____ on performance and develop training programmes. Many coaches are not paid and are volunteers who love a particular sport.

To be a coach you need a coaching _____, to be able to communicate well and to build teams.
