2.

Don. OK, _____<sup>12</sup>, London has its own peculiar charm. But _____<sup>13</sup>, nothing compares with a city like New York. The whole world is here!

Kerri. But that's the problem. It's too big. There are too many people. Everybody's so stressed out. And nobody has any time for you.

Jenny. _____<sup>14</sup> that's right, Kerri. New Yorkers are very friendly.

Kerri. Oh sure, they can sound friendly with all that 'Have a nice day' stuff.
