

Learning Walks

Meaning: Brief visits to several classrooms give teachers a chance to reflect on a variety of practices. After observing their peers, teachers use reflection sheets to think through what they'd like to bring to their own classrooms.

Benefits: The primary purpose of Learning Walks is for the observing teachers to compare their instructional practices with those they observe. The discussion at the end of the Learning Walks and the subsequent self-reflection by observing teachers are the chief benefits of this collaboration.

Video

