Jan: Can you make spaghetti? I'm hungry.
Pedro: Yes, it's easy. I need (1) _____ cheese, (2) _____ tomatoes, ham and (3) _____ olive.
Jan: Just one olive?
Pedro: Yes, I don't like them very much. It's for you.
Jan: Oh, thanks.
Pedro: Right, (4) _____ tomatoes are there?
Jan: Four. Is that enough? And (5) _____ cheese do you want?
Pedro: Yes, that's fine, and give me all the cheese.
Jan: Right, now is there (6) _____ garlic?
Pedro: Oh no, not garlic. I hate garlic.
Jan: It's OK. I don't use (7) _____.
Pedro: Don't use (8) _____. I really hate it.
Jan: OK, I won't.

Dear Emma,

I'm just writing to tell you about the great day we had yesterday. We went shopping in London. I know you love doing that! (1) _____ we got a bus from Kensington (2) _____ Oxford Street. That was good because we went past Hyde Park and saw all the beautiful green trees and gardens. Then the bus turned into Oxford Street, so we got off. From the bus stop, we walked (3) _____ the road to the other side and went into Selfridges, the big department store. I didn't buy anything there because it was all too expensive. My mother gave (4) _____ some money, but not enough for really expensive things. But then we turned right into a small street between Oxford Street and Piccadilly, and I bought a shirt and some bangles. They're very nice. I'll show (5) _____ them next time we meet. Then we went and had some lunch. (6) _____ lunch we went to the cinema. By the end of the day, we were very tired because we walked up and (7) _____ Oxford Street twice, and it's very long. But what an exciting day!
How are you? Write soon!
Michele
