UNIT 2, LESSON 4 LISTENING

CONVERSATION 1 [M = Korean, F = Turkish]

M: Ms. Yilmaz? I'm Dr. Lee. I understand you're here on business.
F: That's right. I'm from Turkey, actually.
M: And you're not feeling well?
F: No, I'm afraid not. My (1) ..... has been killing me for several days now.
M: Are you taking anything?
F: Just some (2) ..... But they're not really helping.
M: Let me give you a prescription for a stronger painkiller. I think you might find it very helpful.
F: Does it have any (3) .....?
M: Well, for very few patients it causes nausea or vomiting. But that's very rare. I really don't think you'll have to worry. Call me if you feel at all (4) ....., OK?
F: OK. Thanks.
M: The dosage is one tablet in the morning, one in the evening, with food. The pharmacist will give you a full set of instructions when you pick up your prescription.
F: Thank you, Dr. Lee.

CONVERSATION 2 [M = Japanese, F = Spanish]

M: Lucy Fernández? I'm Dr. Hirano.
F: Thanks so much for fitting me in.
M: My pleasure. Where are you from?
F: Mexico. I'm here on business.
M: You're a long way from home! What can I do for you today?
F: Well, I've got a splitting (1) ....., and I've been kind of nauseous since Monday.
M: You must feel terrible. Are you currently taking any medication?
F: I've been taking an (2) ..... and a painkiller.
M: Are you allergic to any medications?
F: I think I might be allergic to penicillin. But I'm not sure.
M: Well, that's OK. Keep taking the painkiller for that headache. But you can stop taking the antacid. I'm going to give you a (3) ..... for your nausea. Take it twice a day.
F: Will there be any side effects?
M: It might make you a little (4) ..... during the day. But chances are you'll be fi ne. Call me if you don't feel better.

CONVERSATION 3 [M = Chinese]

M: Dr. Benson? Hi, I'm Mark Goh.
F: Hello, Mr. Goh. I hear you're not from around here.
M: Right. I'm visiting from Hong Kong for a few weeks.
F: You've come a long way to see a doctor! Well, what can I do for you today?
M: My (1) ..... have been really red for about a week now.
F: Have you been using any medication?
M: Well, I got some eye drops at the drugstore, but they aren't helping.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

F: For your condition, I think you might want something (2) ..... I'm going to give you a prescription for an eye (3) ..... Use it twice a day, and wash your eyes several times a day.

M: OK.

F: It's a strong medication, but there aren't any side effects you need to worry about. If you keep your eyes clean, the ointment should do the trick.

M: Thanks.

F: Will you still be here next week? I'd like you to come back to see me.

M: Yes, I'll still be here.

F: Good. You can make an (4) ..... at the front desk on your way out.

M: Thanks, Doctor
