Julio Salazar
Unit 503

Dear Mr. Salazar,

Greetings from the Goodwin Place Condominium Association. We are writing to officially inform you of an addition to our condominium bylaws. From 1 September, unit owners will no longer be allowed to let any part of their unit for short-term rental (less than six months). — [1] —. You may be familiar with this practice as “using Owillo.com,” but this ban applies to short-term rentals set up through any channels, even offline ones.

As you are likely aware, this addition is the result of a formal vote among association members following months of discussion. As such, it is legally binding for all members, and violating the rule even a single time will result in a substantial fine. — [2] —. For details, see the full text of the rule (Article 9, Section B, Clause 12), which is enclosed.

We hope that those among you who voted against the ban will keep in mind the considerable benefits of not allowing short-term rental. First, it will eliminate the security issues created by a constant stream of non-residents coming and going from our grounds. — [3] —. Moreover, it will preserve the spirit of Goodwin Place as a community of friendly neighbors.

To confirm that you understand this change, please sign the enclosed form and return it to the association office by 31 August. — [4] —. Note that refusal to sign does not exempt you from the rule.

Sincerely,

Courtney Graham

President
Goodwin Place Condominium Association
Encl.

Questions 172-175 refer to the following online chat discussion.

 Brather Public Library Staff Chat		  X
Clifton Sanders	[10:19 A.M.]	Hey, Amanda and Jeffrey. I'm going through the comment cards that we got from book club participants this past week, and there's an issue I think you should know about.
Amanda Thomas	[10:20 A.M.]	What is it, Clifton?
Clifton Sanders	[10:22 A.M.]	More than half of the participants of the Classics Club wrote something like, "The leader isn't doing a good job of moderating the discussion." It seems that Sabrina—the leader of that group—lets one of the participants talk too much.
Amanda Thomas	[10:23 A.M.]	Ah, yes, that's the group that Doyle is in this year. He's one of the library's regular book club participants, and he tends to dominate the conversation if the leader isn't assertive.
Jeffrey Shim	[10:24 A.M.]	Oh, Doyle! It's too bad that Sabrina has to deal with him her first time leading a club.
Clifton Sanders	[10:25 A.M.]	Should I just give her a summary of the feedback as usual, or does this require some kind of special response?
Amanda Thomas	[10:26 A.M.]	We should do something about it. I'll sit down with her and give her some tips for balancing the participants' contributions better. But I need to run to a meeting right now. Is there anything else, Clifton?
Jeffrey Shim	[10:27 A.M.]	I have a pretty good relationship with Sabrina, and I've had to lead a group with Doyle in it before. Maybe I should be the one to speak with her.
Amanda Thomas	[10:28 A.M.]	Sure, Jeffrey. That sounds good.
Clifton Sanders	[10:29 A.M.]	Thanks, Jeffrey. OK, talk to you both later.

To Whom It May Concern:

I recently stayed at Montara Campground for one week. Although the site itself was lovely, I was disappointed with the amenities for motor homes. From the second day of our stay until the end of the week, the electricity for our campsite didn't work. Because of this, I believe we should only be charged the rate for motor home sites without water and electricity, and I'd like the difference to be sent back to me. The park ranger on duty, Chet Rinehart, was very kind, and he gave me this e-mail address so that I could get in touch with someone to help me. You can reach me by replying to this e-mail.

Thank you,
Shannon Kohl

Notice

For personal reasons, Marshall Holloway will be unable to join us today to give his scheduled session, "Effective Staff Training on Patient Care." Sarah Hughes, our standby speaker and the ARPM's chief operating officer, will lead a replacement session. In a presentation entitled "How to Find and Eliminate Inefficiency," she will describe her five-step system for identifying and addressing issues that waste pharmacies' time and money. Attendees who feel strongly inconvenienced by this change and would prefer financial compensation over attending Ms. Hughes's presentation must make this request at the registration desk before the session begins.

In addition, conference center management has informed us that the South Hall's catering fridge failed last night, spoiling much of the food that would have been served at lunch today. Please use the attached voucher to purchase lunch at a nearby restaurant instead. Tonight's dinner event will go forward as planned.

We apologize deeply for these inconveniences and ask for your understanding.
