Penguins

Penguins are funny-looking birds that most people recognise immediately.

There are various types of penguins. The largest are up to 100cm tall, while the smallest are just 33cm tall, but they are all fairly in shape. Penguins are black and white in colour.

These birds can be found in many locations around the southern half of the world. Although many people  of them living in very cold climates like Antarctica, some species of penguin also in much warmer places, such as the Galapagos Islands, Australia and South Africa.

Penguins are very unusual birds because they cannot fly. However, they are excellent swimmers. In fact, a penguin spends at least half of its life in the water, where it will dive deep into the ocean, for food such as fish to eat. They also drink seawater!
