

So you want to learn another language?

Here are three courses you can do after your day at school.

A) Arabic at Hopton Library

The Arabic language is spoken in many countries around the world. This is why knowing it can be useful when you're looking for work in the future. This course is for totally new students who don't know any Arabic yet. When you finish this course and take the exam, you'll be pleased how much you can say in Arabic after just one year. Interested? You can try the first lesson for free!

B) Chinese at Hopton Chinese Centre

This six-week course is happening for the first time this year. It includes lots of different things – listening to songs in Chinese to help you understand, talking about your family and the jobs they do, and much more. And after the class, the students go to a café and practice speaking Chinese with the teacher while they enjoy a free coffee or a snack.

C) Russian at Hopton College

On this course, you'll do lots of speaking with Ksenia, your teacher. She will teach you what to say in Russian when you visit someone's home, or when you go out for a meal. You'll learn about some popular Russian dishes and to describe how they are made. And you'll also practice discussing your favorite bands and sports. This course costs nothing for the whole two months, so come and join us!

For each question, choose the correct answer.

1 Which course is the longest?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

2 Which course includes lessons about food?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

3 Which course can help people find a job?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

4 Which course uses music in the lessons?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

5 Which course is totally free?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

6 Which course is new?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian

7 Which course includes a test?

A Arabic B Chinese C Russian