

THIRD TRIMESTER EXAMEN

Student: _____ Subject: _____

Grade: 1st Class: Guayaquil Date: _____ 2024

Teacher: Ivan Hughes Harper

INSTRUCTIONS:

- 1) Read the test questions carefully and think over your answers before answering,
- 2) Do not use liquid paper, do not erase, have smudges or double answers otherwise, the answer will be canceled.
- 3) Academic dishonesty will be sanctioned (Copy)
- 4) Keep in mind according to the LOEI's article 134, it is considered academic dishonesty: to copy from other's paper and exams by using any means; to use notes or

A. Vocabulary (2 points)

Label the pictures

B. Extreme Sports (1 point)

Complete the extreme sports.

1. _____ biking
2. _____ climbing
3. Snow _____
4. Kite _____
5. _____ water _____

C. Phrasal Verbs and Activities. (1 point)

Read and complete the dialogue.

stay up late order take-out stream movies sleep in work out go out to eat

Stephanie: Hey, Bryan. Do you want to hang out?

Bryan: Sure! I'm hungry. Let's (1) _____. I know a great pizza place.

Stephanie: No. Let's (2) _____ so we can stay home.

Bryan: Ok. We can (3) _____. I want to see the new Star Wars movie.

Stephanie: We shouldn't (4) _____ or we will be tired tomorrow.

Bryan: You're right. I'm going to (5) _____ tomorrow at the gym.

D. Grammar

Present Perfect II (1 point)

Find the mistakes and correct them.

Example:

My parents have celebrated their 10th anniversary yet. My parents have already celebrated their 10th anniversary.

1. Our neighbors has lived next door for 10 years! _____
2. Have you eat dinner yet? _____
3. Has Ms. Johnson given you your grade already? _____
4. My family has traveled to the beach twice this summer yet. _____
5. I've saw the Great Wall of China. It's incredible. _____

E. Never and Present Perfect (1 point)

Complete the sentences with the present perfect form of the verbs.

Have you ever heard (hear) of adventure tourism? It's a type of travel where you seek out exciting and thrilling activities like skydiving or mountain biking. I have never _____ (be) mountain biking so I'd really like to go. I've also never _____ (go) skydiving but I might not want to do that. It looks terrifying! My sister has been on an adventure trip to Canada. She's _____ (see) the Northern Lights and _____ (eat) wild caught salmon. She's _____ (fly) in a helicopter and has learned how to snowboard. I'm so jealous! Now it's my turn! See you in the Swiss Alps for rock climbing, snowboarding and even kite surfing. It's going to be a blast!

F. Too and Either (1 point)

Read and choose the correct options.

1. I enjoy going to the park. I do _____ (too/ either)
2. He isn't a teacher. She isn't _____ (too/ either)
3. My classmates don't like Mondays. I _____ (do/ don't) either.
4. She just left for college. My brother _____ (did/ didn't) too, but he's not happy.
5. They aren't going to order take out. He _____ (is/ isn't) either because he already ate

G. So and Neither (1 point)

Read and answer using So do I or Me neither.

1. A: I like to stream movies on the weekends.
B: _____. I watch two or three every weekend.
2. A: I always sleep in on Saturdays.
B: _____, since I usually stay up late on Fridays.
3. A: I don't like to work out on the weekends.
B: _____. I work out after school.
4. A: My cousin keeps a journal online because she doesn't like to use pen and paper.
5. B: _____. I use the computer for everything.

H. Reading (1 point)

How Do We Choose Our Friends?

"Friends are the family you choose" is a cliché we hear too often, but it still means a lot to many of us. Unlike family, we can decide who to keep in our group of friends and who to call our "besties" (best friends) or "BFFs" (Best Friends Forever). But how does friendship happen?

In large groups of people, we tend to gravitate to those who think like we do, who like the same things we do, who share our lifestyle and even to people who look like us! In a diverse environment, for example, an international school, people from the same countries or culture will tend to spend more time together. Similarities help us feel safe and comfortable with the people around us.

However, new studies suggest that when groups are smaller and less diverse, people are bound to hang out with those who are different. Friendships born from situations like this will become stronger than those that are formed between people who are too similar.

Social psychologist Angela Bahns of Wellesley College, found that when a pair of friends show more differences in attitudes, values and behaviors, the bond they form is closer and the relationship lasts longer.

This might be due to the fact that we challenge ourselves more when we meet someone who is unlike us and we learn to see things from a totally different perspective. If, let's say, we never enjoyed fishing but our friend likes it, we are more open to learn to understand the bright side of fishing. We might still dislike it, but learning from a friend makes the relationship more exciting and, perhaps, more meaningful.

Next time, you see your best friend look at him or her closely, talk about how similar or different you are and maybe you can discover something new about each other!

Read again and match the parts of the sentences.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. We normally look for similarities | _____ are like family. |
| 2. When two friends are too similar, they might | _____ develop a stronger relationship. |
| 3. In big groups, individuals will | _____ to feel more relaxed. |
| 4. When two friends are very different, they might | _____ have a superficial relationship. |
| 5. It's common to say that friends | _____ get together with people like them. |

I. Listening (1 point)

Listen and match the columns.

Extreme sports have a _____.

Extreme sports involve speed, _____.

Extreme sports are associated with _____.

In traditional sports, players improve their skills through _____.

Rock climbing, _____ and snowboarding are extreme sports.

a. A high level of danger

b. skydiving

c. young people

d. formal training

e. altitude and physical effort and energy

Lcd. Carmen Moran
High School Director

Lc. Trujillo, Cristhian
English Coordinator

Mr. Hughes Harper
Teacher

Student

Representative