

EVERY KID NEEDS A CHAMPION

1. Why does the speaker mention the fact that both her parents and maternal grandparents were educators?

- a) To highlight their family background
- b) To discuss the challenges of teaching
- c) To emphasize the importance of education
- d) All of the above

2. According to the speaker, what is one thing that is rarely discussed in the context of education reform?

- a) Poverty and attendance issues
- b) The value of human connection and relationships
- c) The significance of teacher qualifications
- d) The influence of negative peer pressure

3. According to James Comer, what is essential for significant learning to occur?

- a) Academic excellence
- b) Classroom discipline
- c) A supportive relationship
- d) Advanced teaching methods

4. How does the speaker suggest teachers can improve relationships with students?

- a) By strictly focusing on teaching lessons
- b) By seeking first to understand the students
- c) By avoiding any personal connections
- d) By only showing appreciation for academic achievements

5. What does the speaker mean by the phrase "throw in a few simple things"?

- a) Include some basic concepts
- b) Discard unnecessary items
- c) Express complex ideas
- d) Avoid difficult discussions

6. How does the speaker use the phrase "strut" in the context of the classroom?

- a) To highlight the importance of walking quietly
- b) To emphasize the need for self-confidence
- c) To discourage students from making noise
- d) To indicate a specific way of teaching

7. What is the meaning of the metaphor

"You say it long enough, it starts to be a part of you"

- a) repeat long phrases.
- b) Long phrases can become part of you
- c) repetition can internalize a belief or statement

8. Provide a synonym for the word "arduous" as used by Rita. It starts with the letter -S
