

In the Modern Art Museum, tourists explore the interior and history or artistic exhibitions. Local people and tourists also enjoy green spaces and view the abstract faces found on the walls. Tourists and residents usually discuss the works and engage to talk about the exhibition at that moment. During the event or museum tour, people actively participate when questions are asked to see if they are attentive. After the tour, people walk through the museum and its surroundings, examine the paintings in more detail, sit on the benches in a room to enjoy the surroundings.
