

Level: B2: Upper Intermediate

Skill: Grammar

Future Tenses

ADJECTIVES WITH A FUTURE MEANING

★ BOUND / LIKELY and DUE +infinitive are adjectives with an implicit future meaning.

We use bound to when we are sure that a future event will happen

The plane is bound to land late because of the fog.

We use likely to when we think it is highly probable that something will happen

She is likely to be disappointed with her results.

We use due to when something which has been planned is expected to happen

The reception is due to begin at six o'clock this evening

Choose the correct forms of the Future Simple, Future Continuous or Future Perfect for the sentences below.

- I promise I _____ you with your housework.
- Claire _____ when you return this evening.
- We _____ to Greece at 6 pm.
- They _____ home after office.
- The kids _____ to bed by 10 pm.

Future Continuous and Future Perfect Complete the sentences with one word

- We'll havea bit of Korean by the time you come to Seoul. We're starting classes next week.
- By June next year, Ihave retired from work.
- In their retirement, they'llliving in a small house in the mountains.
- Take some keys with you – I'll probably bea shower when you get back.
- Next week we'llbeen together for two years.
- I'm taking the day off on Friday – Ibe working.
- Our table at the restaurant is at 1 p.m. Do you think we'll havelunch by 3 p.m.?
- Come and find me when the film finishes. I'll bea coffee in the bar next door.