Read Jade's blog about sports in British schools.

Word blog: Top school sports

1 My blog Read the text. Match paragraphs 1–4 to photos A–F. There are two extra photos.

I'm sport mad! We do lots of sports at school in Britain. The most popular school sports are field hockey, football, netball, rugby, cricket and swimming. What sports do you do at school?

1
The most popular sport is football, of course! Players have to try to [1]_____ the ball into the other team's goal. They mustn't touch the ball, but they can use their heads. Look at the photo: my school team is red and green!

2
In swimming lessons, children have to to wear a swimsuit, a swimming cap and [2]_____. The girl in the photo is my sister, Kate. She has just passed her swimming test. She can now swim 100 metres and the teacher is going to give her a swimming badge. Congratulations, Kate!

3
We also learn to play hockey at school. You play field hockey (not ice hockey) with a hockey [3]_____ on grass. You can hit the ball hard to try and score a goal, pass it to another player or 'dribble' it. (When you 'dribble', you move the ball with short hits.) You have to be brave to play hockey because the ball is hard and it often hits the players' legs. Ouch! The photo comes from our school competition last summer.

Have you ever played rugby? The player with the ball has to carry the ball, pass it or kick it to [4]_____ points. Players fall a lot, but they don't mind getting dirty!

Netball is a popular sport for girls. There are seven players in each team and they have to try to throw the ball into the other team's net. Netball is similar to basketball, but players can't run with the ball.

Cricket is a summer game. There are eleven players in each team. Players usually wear white trousers and shirts. The rules of the game aren't easy, and some people think it's boring! In the photo, one player has thrown the ball and another player is trying to hit the ball with a bat.

4 Chat room Are you sport mad? What equipment do you need? Read comments 1–5 and match them to the sports equipment a–e.
