Last March, my boyfriend and I decided to go to Ibiza on holiday. My dad did me the favour to book our tickets. He needed my boyfriend's surname but he wasn't sure so he looked for him on Facebook. My boyfriend's name on social media is Adam West so he booked his tickets with that name.

Unfortunately, that's not my boyfriend's real name. His first name is actually Adam but the surname belongs to a famous actor that played Batman in a 70's TV show. Anyways, Armstrong is my boyfriend's real surname but by the time we realized there was a problem, it was too late. We phoned the airline to change the name on the ticket but they said it was impossible. We needed to buy another ticket and that cost $200. However, changing your name in England is free and that's what he did. He only needed to change the passport and that cost only 110 dollars. That's crazy, right? But we went to Ibiza that summer.

Now, we are going to listen to the story of a couple who decided to book tickets on holiday.

Listen again if necessary and put the events in the correct order.

Now, let's listen to the end of the story. What happened? Whose fault was it? What would you do in this situation?
