

THINK! When did someone last do something kind for you? What was it?

CHANGING THE WORLD WITH KINDNESS

Sometimes a spontaneous act of kindness can change another person's life. Read about these incredible people and their actions that helped to make the world a better place for someone else.

DANIEL'S STORY

Life can't be easy for musician Daniel Black. After a cycling accident in 2009, he couldn't walk or play the guitar any more. Doctors thought that with expensive surgery he might walk again. He had saved £22,000 when he heard about a young boy with a serious illness who also needed surgery to allow him to walk. Daniel decided to donate all the money he had to the boy's family. The result? The little boy was able to get his surgery. Daniel received a special award at the Pride of Britain Awards.

Waitress Sarah Hoidahl bought lunch for two soldiers in her restaurant when she heard they didn't get paid due to government problems. She wanted to support and thank them for serving their country. On her TV show, talk show host Ellen DeGeneres gave a reward to Sarah for her kindness: the lunch money ($27.75) and an extra $10,000!

GLEN'S STORY

Gien James was an unemployed office worker and homeless when he did something both honest and kind. When he found a bag with $42,000 in it, Glen decided to do what most people wouldn't do: he gave it to the police to return to its owner. A man called Ethan Whittington, who must be very kind himself, read about Glen and started a campaign to collect money for him. The campaign raised an amazing $160,000 and Glen's life hasn't been the same since.

These stories may persuade you that when you spread a little kindness, there may not be a personal benefit, but you'll feel good about yourself and you could encourage people to be kind to you, too. Perhaps your kindness will help someone to be kind to another person!
