

An Adventure Begins

When we leave our everyday routines behind, a world of possibilities opens up. We go in search of new experiences, fuelled by curiosity and a desire to explore. It all starts with a plan—choosing a destination, booking tickets, and packing our bags.

As we travel, we encounter the difference in cultures, languages, and landscapes. Each place has its own charm, and we soak it all in. We arrive at airports, train stations, or bus terminals, eager to discover what lies ahead. Then we check into our hotel or hostel.

One of the joys of travel is the chance to sightsee. We visit historical sites, admire architecture, and take photos to capture memories. The world becomes our canvas, and we paint it with our footsteps.

And what's a trip without a souvenir? We buy little tokens—a keychain, a postcard, or a local delicacy—to remind us of our adventures. These small treasures hold stories of places we've been.

As we look out from a mountaintop or hike through lush forests, we look forward to more. More sunsets, more laughter, more shared moments. Traveling isn't just about reaching a destination; it's about the journey itself.

So let's embrace the wanderlust, step out into the unknown, and create memories that will stay with us forever.

Debbie: Great idea! Let's start. First, where are we going to stay?

Karen: What do you _____ – a hotel or a youth hostel?

Debbie: Well, I prefer a hotel, a course, but hotels are too expensive for us. Let's reserve a room in a youth hostel.

Karen: I agree with you on that. We haven't got enough _____ to stay in a hotel. Next, what about the type of transport we're going to use?

Debbie: I read that Holland has got excellent _____ transport. They've got buses, trams and underground trains. You simply buy a Stripped Card.

Karen: A what?

Debbie: A Stripped Card. It's a _____. You can use it for all the different types of public transport. It's a great thing, because you don't have to buy a ticket every time you get on a bus, a tram or a train. And it isn't expensive.

Karen: Well, you certainly have done your homework, Debbie! How much do these Stripped Cards cost?

Debbie: Um... a card for one day of travel costs 6 and a half Euros. That means that you can tour the cities by tram, by bus or on the underground train for a whole day and night – for just 6 and a half Euros.

Karen: Great.

Debbie: OK, Karen. Now, how about going on the Internet and ordering tickets for some of the things we want to see and do?

Karen: Right now? You certainly are the _____ today! I'm tired from just thinking about getting on all those buses, trams and trains!

Debbie: OK, meanwhile, I'll do some homework and surf the Internet for interesting places to _____ in Holland.
