

On her trip to Colorado, Elena joined an excursion to explore the majestic Rocky Mountains. The day was sunny, and the group of hikers was filled with excitement. The planned route would take them through wooded trails to a beautiful alpine lake.

Equipped with her backpack, water, and a sun hat, Elena was ready for the adventure. As they walked, she marveled at the panoramic views and the diversity of the local flora and fauna. Along the way, they stopped to rest and take in the scenery.

Approaching the lake, the guide pointed out different landmarks and shared stories about the region. Elena, recalling the phrases she had learned, felt prepared to ask questions and engage in the conversation. The excursion was not only an opportunity to admire nature but also to practice her English in a real context.

At the end of the day, they returned to the camp, sharing experiences and planning their next adventure in the Colorado mountains.

According to the story answer these questions:

1 What excursion did Elena take?

4 What would be an appropriate phrase that Elena used in the conversation?

2 Who was with Elena?

5 When did they return to the camp?

3 What accessories did Elena bring with her?

6 Which word wouldn't replace "recalling" in the story?