

UNIT 3: FORMAL EMAILS

OBJECTIVES

- Analyze a formal email
- Develop ideas for a formal email
- Different types of formal emails
- Write a formal email

I. WHAT IS A FORMAL EMAIL?

A formal email is an email sent to someone either you don't know well or in a position of authority. Formal emails require proper format, language, and tonality. They serve a clear purpose and get the message across in a professional and polite manner.

II. GENERAL OUTLINE FOR A FORMAL EMAIL

III. USEFUL LANGUAGE AND EXPRESSIONS

The register of an email (how formal or informal it is) depends on the type of message you are writing and who you are writing to. So an email about rescheduling a meeting might be less formal than an enquiry or an apology. Similarly, an email to a new customer or the CEO of your company would probably be more formal than an email to an old customer or a colleague.

You can tell how formal an email is by its...

Salutation: As in letter-writing, the salutation can be formal or informal, depending on how well you know the person you are writing to.

Dear Mr, Mrs, Ms ... A formal form of address. also used when first contacting a person.

Dear John, Less formal. Either you have had contact with this person before, or they have already addressed you by your first name.

Hi/Hello Mary, Informal, usually used with colleagues you often work with. In the U.S.A. and the U.K. also sometimes used at first contact.

(or just the name)
(no salutation) Very informal, usually used in messages which are part of a longer email exchange.

Opening sentence: This is used to explain why you are writing. (Remember: the opening sentence should always start with a capital letter.)

I'm writing to ... More formal introduction to say why you are writing.

Just a quick note to ... Friendly, informal way to say why you are writing.

Conclusion: This is where you tell the reader what kind of response, if any, you expect.

Looking forward to your reply. Friendly ending, can be used in formal or informal correspondence

Hope to hear from you soon. Informal ending to indicate a reply is necessary

Close: Like the salutation, this can vary from formal to very informal.

Yours sincerely, Very formal, rarely used in email correspondence.

Regards/Best wishes, Most commonly used close, can be used in formal and informal emails.

Bye/All the Best/Best, Friendly, informal close.

James/Mary Name only (or initials) is also common when writing to close colleagues.

Colloquial phrases: These are phrases normally used in conversation which make an email less formal. Examples are How's it going? for How are you? or See ya for See you later.

Vocabulary: The words and expressions used in an email can make it formal or informal. Some examples are:

formal	to receive	to inform	to assist	to contact
less formal	to get	to tell	to help	to get in touch

Abbreviations: The use of abbreviations and symbols (eg for for example, info for information and & for and) are more common in informal emails. although some standard abbreviations used in letter-writing – like asap – are also found in formal emails.

Emoticons: These written forms of body language or gesture are often used in less formal emails

ACTIVITY 1:

Can you show emotion in an email? Match the emoticons to the correct meaning or description.

Email 1.

To:	Salma.Aba@ozmail.com
From:	Carlos66@ozmail.com
Subject:	Housewarming!
Hi Salma! How're you? It's been so long since we last talked! What's new with you? I've just moved into a new flat in Bondi. It's great to live near the beach. I'm having a housewarming party next Saturday. I hope you can come. Bring your brother if you like - he's really funny! Unless it rains, we'll have a barbecue in the garden! I'm going to make some salads, and there'll be drinks, but I'm asking people to bring something to cook on the barbecue, if that's OK. Send me an email and let me know if you can come. It'd be great to see you. Love, Carlos

Email 2.

To:	Marketing@BLTLtd.com
From:	Bmarchant@BLTLtd.com
Subject:	Reception for Simone Lacroix
Dear Colleagues, I hope this email finds you well. You are invited to a reception to mark the retirement of our business manager, Simone Lacroix. The reception will take place in the main boardroom on the first floor at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Drinks and snacks will be served. Simone has been with us for the last fifteen years and has helped us through some difficult times. I am sure you would like to join us in giving her a proper good-bye as she returns to her native France. If you are able to attend, I would be grateful if you would respond to this email so that we can confirm numbers. Simone has asked if people could make a donation to the charity Southern Cat Rescue rather than give her a leaving present. If you wish to donate, please contact Ken in Sales. Yours, Ben Marchant

V. ADDITIONAL TOPICS FOR WRITING

Here are some ideas for formal emails. You should spend about 25 minutes on each task. Write an email (120-150 words).

TOPIC 1: You are organising a seminar for your company. Write a letter to the manager of another department inviting them to give a presentation at the seminar. In your letter:

- give details of the seminar
- invite them to give a presentation and say why you are inviting them
- say what the presentation should be about

TOPIC 2: You are the hotel manager. Write a letter to the director of the city council to invite him/her to the official opening of its 20th hotel outlet.

TOPIC 3: You are the sales representative for Bigtop electric drills and saws. Write to James Baker (your colleague Sarah Miller gave you his name) to order some brochures on Bigtop's after-sales service. You need the English version of the brochures for a trade fair in the Czech Republic. The trade fair is next week!
