Last winter, I travelled to California with my family for a skiing holiday. I was very excited, and during the flight I looked through a book about California. In the book, there was a story about Bigfoot. According to legend, Bigfoot was a _____(11)_____ monster that lived in a forest.

When we arrived at our hotel, it was very cold and there was snow everywhere. The next morning, my brother and I wanted to go skiing in the mountains. We skied for a few hours and then decided _____(12)_____ a walk in the forest.

_____ (13) _____, my brother touched me on the shoulder. "Luke, I hear a strange noise coming from the trees," he said. I turned around slowly and watched in terror as a strange creature appeared from out of the trees and started moving towards us. "It's Bigfoot!" I screamed and started _____(14)_____.

A few seconds later, my brother shouted, “Wait, Luke! It’s not Bigfoot! Look!” I turned around and realized he was right. It was only my dad. When we arrived back at the hotel, we all had some hot chocolate and laughed about my silly ____(15)_____.

Vincent van Gogh

Vincent van Gogh was a brilliant Dutch painter. He was born in 1853 in the Netherlands. Van Gogh had many different jobs when he was young. He worked in a bookshop, sold works of art and was a teacher. But in the end, he decided to study painting. In 1886, he went to Paris to live with his brother Theo. Theo was Van Gogh's best friend and always gave his brother money for food. In Paris, Van Gogh met many famous painters like Monet and Gauguin and learned about painting from them. Van Gogh painted day and night for many hours, so he didn't eat or sleep well enough. Because of this, he soon became sick. In 1889, he moved to the countryside in Arles, in the south of France. In 1890, he died at the age of 37. During his life, Van Gogh sold only one painting. But today his paintings are some of the most popular and expensive works of art in the world. In his short life, Van Gogh achieved great things and people continue to admire his paintings today. His most famous work is The Starry Night (1889).
