Hello everyone, and welcome to the University of New South Wales.

The first thing I'd like to do at today's Orientation Session is get you all 1 ! That means tell you the location of some useful 2 and services. So, first of all, take out the 3 we gave you all as you came in the door. The map is the big 4 sheet of paper.

As you can see on the map, North is at the top, South at the 5 , et cetera. Which way is North? Well, look through that 6 on my left, your right. See the rising sun? That would have to be East. So North must be directly behind me.

Now, we are at the campus's Main Gate. The Recreational Facilities are on my right hand and its 7 is the Student Centre. No questions? Good. Pretty easy, right?

OK, did everyone eat breakfast at the Student Food Service this morning? Was the food good? Yes, yes. I am joking. I've eaten there, too. So after a meal like that, you must be 8 to go to a doctor. Right?

Well, I have good news for you: the Student Health Centre is located about half a kilometre straight north of here. Look on your maps. You see the street on the 9 side of this building? Ned Kelly Avenue? Just follow that about 500 metres, and the Health Centre will be on your left at the third cross street.

Now, I know you all just got here. So you must be wondering how to tell your 10..... you've arrived safely, how much you miss the dog, and how you already need more money. If you don't have an Iphone, you probably are 11 where to find a computer. Well, I have good news. If you go straight out of its door and walk down the Garden Street, you'll see the Internet Unit on your left side, just next to the Gym. The hours are 12 on the door, and the 13 are free, but you must bring your student ID card with you. Like I tell everyone, if you need help with anything, you can probably find it right here in the Student Centre.

Do you see the four buildings there between the Student Centre and the library? Those are the 14 The men's dorms are the two on the south; the women's the two on the north. OK, I'm sorry to have to tell you, but the university has been doing a lot of 15 and remodelling, and it's not all done yet. So there may be some small problems with your dorm rooms. Maybe the window doesn't open. Maybe an air 16 is missing or does not work. If there are any problems, you can go to the Complaint Office, which is right beside the Teaching Building between the Parker Street and the Crammer Street. Just tell them your problem and they should have it fixed by the time you graduate in four years. I'm joking, but please be 17 There are a lot of little things they need to take care of.

Tired of the school food? No? Give it a week. Or maybe you just need a place to get 18 in the wee hours of the night during one of those marathon study sessions. Either way, you definitely have to 19 out the little Cafe just past the women's dormitories. They've got free Wi-Fi, so a lot of students 20 up with coffee and a 21 for hours on end to get work done.
