

Connectors and Conjunctions for LISTS.

in addition to

as well as

Furthermore.

In addition to or as well as are used at the beginning of dependent clauses.

In addition to being rude,

As well as being rude,

Dependent clauses don't make sense by themselves. These clauses do not have a subject.

Dependent clauses are followed by an independent clause.

....., Paul was mean and thoughtless.

This is a complete idea as it has a subject and a predicate.

When we add a dependent clause to an independent clause, we build a complex sentence.

In addition to being rude, Paul was mean and thoughtless.

As well as being rude, Paul was mean and thoughtless.

The word "furthermore" is then used to add more information.

As well as being rude, Paul was mean and thoughtless. Furthermore, he is a bully.

Answer the question.

Add the dependent and independent clauses

Cats are easy to look after. They are cheap to own. Cats good companions and bring families together.

What is the subject of these sentences?

In addition to _____, _____ are cheap to own. Furthermore,

Dogs are cost a lot of money to keep. They need to be exercised. Dogs need to be washed and groomed

What is the subject of these sentences?

In addition to _____, _____ need to be exercised. Furthermore,

Recycling is good for the environment. It can save business money. Recycling can bring families together.

What is the subject of these sentences?

In addition to _____, _____ is good for the environment. Furthermore, enjoy eating a cold piece of fruit? A that is delicious, a that is sweet and a that is juicy. That's why everybody should eat at least one apple every day. being good for your health, will save you money.

eating an apple is good for the environment.

A New Pool is Cool for Chapel Hill School

Who wouldn't want to be swimming on a hot day? Swimming is refreshing, swimming is relaxing and swimming invigorating That is why a new pool should be built on the top oval of the Chapel Hill State School. As well as being good for the school's finances, a new pool would bring families together. Furthermore, a swimming pool would be good for children's education. It is essential that this pool be built.