

'Rex's Big Adventure'

Look at this text. It's about the interesting story of a dog and its owner. But... there's something weird: there aren't any capital letters or punctuation marks!

Let's read the incorrect version of the full tale first.

What happens when we don't add capital letters to names like Rex...

They lose their identity as a living being! :(

And what about punctuation... If there is no punctuation, sentences will never end!

Now that you know that...

Help Rex have capital letters and a good punctuation!

We will be out here here. Rewrite the sentences that are in the spaces below. Remember that you will capitalize the words that need to be capitalized and use the needed punctuation marks!

Rewrite this sentence with the correct capitalization and punctuation:
rex was a playful dog who loved to run and play fetch with his owner tim.

Write your answer in this blank space. I'm going to give you an example of how we expect you to write your answer, so please take that into account when writing:

Example: Once upon a time, there was a dog named Rex.

(Notice that you already got the first answer here... so this one won't appear in the exercises :))

Rewrite this sentence with the correct capitalization and punctuation:

rex was a playful dog who loved to run and play fetch with his owner tim.

Rewrite this sentence with the correct capitalization and punctuation:

tim searched everywhere asking his neighbors. if they had seen rex but no one had.

Rewrite this sentence with the correct capitalization and punctuation:

worried tim decided to put up posters with rex's picture.

Rewrite this sentence with the correct capitalization and punctuation:

he gave rex a big hug. And promised to never let him run away again.