

English for children

Vale, an 8-year-old girl, resides in a town named Green Valley.

- Mondays start early for Vale at 7 a.m. as she begins her day with brushing her teeth and having cereal with milk before catching the school bus. At school, she learns new things and enjoys time with her friends. Post-school, she accompanies her mom to the store for groceries, followed by a family dinner and watching her favorite cartoon show.
- Tuesdays allow Vale to sleep in a bit longer. She then takes a quick shower, sips on hot cocoa, and heads to school. Engaging in a drawing project throughout the day, she has a peanut butter and jelly sandwich for lunch and tidies up her room after school.
- Wednesdays bring excitement for Vale as she enjoys toast with jam and orange juice before school. The highlight of her Wednesday is the art class, followed by a schoolyard picnic with friends and a ballet class in the evening.
- Thursdays start early for Vale with a hearty breakfast before school. She attends ballet class after school and stops by the library for books, taking advantage of the Thursday special offering a 20% discount on children's books.
- Fridays are special for Vale with pancake breakfasts and playful classes until lunch. She spends time with friends at the playground, colors, and watches a movie with her family. Fridays sometimes include a water balloon fight in July due to the warm weather.
- Saturdays are leisurely for Vale as she enjoys reading in bed and meets friends for a park picnic at 2 p.m. Saturdays are ideal for group playtime, sometimes with a hot chocolate party in January or watermelon treats in August.
- Sundays are dedicated to family time for Vale, including helping her mom in the kitchen and having a picnic at the park. Rainy afternoons mean board games at home, making for a cozy end to the week filled with fun activities and cherished moments.

Lore Fonseca

English for children

Listen to the audio and write the number that describes each image.

Find us on
Facebook

Lore Fonseca

Dictation

Lore Fonseca

English for children

Change the following questions to an affirmative sentence.

Is this my stepson's blue shirt?

Is that my sister's brown jacket?

Are these my nephews green caps?

Are those my great-grandmother's black slippers?

Is this my niece's purple dresses?

Is that her brother's yellow short?

Are those our blue pants?

Are these my aunt's yellow bags?

Are those his cousin pink shirts?

Is that their grandmother's white coat?

Is this my daughter's red cap?

Find us on
Facebook

Lore Fonseca

