

1. Read about Ken's anecdote. Fill in the gaps with the most suitable form of the verbs.

Dear Susan,

I _____ (write) this e-mail because I want to tell you about an interesting anecdote I've had. Last month, I _____ (swim) when I _____ (find) an interesting object at the bottom of the sea. I _____ (pick) it up and I _____ (take) it to an antique shop. They _____ (say) it was a treasure and they _____ (give) me a lot of money. At first, I _____ (not know) what to do with it, but finally I _____ (buy) many things: a car, clothes, shoes, a new television, etc. I also have some plans for the summer: my girlfriend and I _____ (travel) around Europe. We _____ (go) to Spain and Italy. I think that maybe we _____ (visit) Russia too.

I _____ (be) a very lucky person, don't you think so?

At the moment, I _____ (redecorate) my bedroom and my girlfriend _____ (listen) to music. She _____ (love) pop music, but I _____ (not like) it at all.

I promise that I will write again next week.

Love,

Ken
