Daniel

My parents took me to Turkey for a week last summer and it was an unforgettable experience as I got over my fear of swimming and went scuba diving for the first time! I saw so many fish and loved every second of it. However, the hotel entertainment was quite boring so we left the hotel every night and went exploring in the local towns to see what the locals do there. For my next summer holiday, I'd love to go on holiday with my friends because we won't have to follow any rules.

Our Summer Holidays

Temi

Last year, I went to Thailand for a month with my friends - we had such a fantastic time together. It was our first holiday abroad without our parents so we were really looking forward to it. We did pretty much everything, but my favourite activity was trekking through the forests before relaxing on the beach - I even managed to read two books while I was there! We enjoyed the holiday so much that we're planning to go there again next year but with a bigger group.

Jemima

Last year, my parents took my two brothers and I to the Maldives for two weeks. We had a great time as the weather was beautiful - the sun shined every day! We stayed in an all-inclusive hotel, so we could eat what we wanted, whenever we wanted. That meant my brothers and I could try new foods we hadn't tried before such as sushi! I didn't think I'd like it, but it's now one of my favourite foods. We've already booked our summer holiday for next year, but we aren't going to return to the Maldives because it's too far away - we're going to the south of France!
