

The Boy who Drove to McDonald's

Listen to and read the following:

This is a true story which happened on April 9, 2017, when an eight-year-old boy in Ohio in the USA decided that he wanted to eat a cheeseburger. It was eight o'clock at night and both of his parents were sleeping, so he decided to drive there by himself. However, he had a problem. He was only eight years old and didn't know how to drive. After a few minutes watching YouTube videos about how to drive, he and his four-year-old sister got into their father's van and drove about two kilometres to McDonald's. It was his first time to drive a van, but he drove through four intersections without any accidents. Unfortunately for the child, the workers at McDonald's called the police when they saw a young boy was driving a van. When Jake Koehler, the policeman, arrived, he asked the boy, "Do you know what you're doing?" The boy replied, "My sister and I really wanted a cheeseburger." Later, the policeman said to reporters, "I don't think I'll see anything like this for the rest of my career." The policeman did not arrest the hungry, young driver.

Circle T (True) or F (False).

- 1 The story happened in the morning. T F
- 2 The boy was sleeping at eight o'clock. T F
- 3 He used the Internet to teach himself how to drive. T F
- 4 The boy was alone when he drove to McDonald's. T F
- 5 All the boy wanted was a cheeseburger. T F
- 6 The boy's parents called the police. T F
- 7 The boy did not go to jail. T F