

Fill in the gaps

GUILTY, PRISON, BASTARD, MURDER, FATE, ESCORTED, INNOCENCE, CELL, VICIOUS, ACCUSED, COMBAT, PACK, DWARF

Tyrion Lannister is a _____ (1) and the younger son of Tywin Lannister, one of the most powerful lords in the Seven Kingdoms. He is _____ (2) of poisoning King Robert Baratheon. The king's new wife Cersei hates Tyrion because she thinks he tried to _____ (3) her little son. So Tyrion's fate is not looking good. But he has a plan - he demands a trial by _____ (4).

Tyrion knows he is _____ (5) of nothing, but he also knows that the odds are stacked against him. He is a worthless _____ (6) in the eyes of many, and Cersei is determined to see him on trial and in _____ (7). Tyrion decides to combat the accusations against him by swallowing his pride and requesting a trial by combat. He knows that this is a _____ (8) and deadly idea, but it may be his only chance to escape the _____ (9) that awaits him.

As Tyrion is _____ (10) to the arena, he can feel the _____ (11) of wolves circling him, ready to fight. But Tyrion is determined to combat his fate.

In the end, Tyrion's _____ (12) will be decided not by the words of his accusers, but by his own strength. He knows that he is putting his life in danger, but he also knows that this is his only chance to escape the prison that has been built around him. As the trial by combat begins, Tyrion can only hope that this fight will be victorious and that he will be able to confess his _____ (13) and walk free.