Kinds of Instruments

There are different kinds of instruments. The violin is a string instrument. When you slide a finger over a string or pluck it, it makes music. Some wind instruments have holes for fingers. Like the sound of the wind, the music comes from moving air. Others have buttons to press. You can also make music by hitting or shaking something that makes a sound. That's because most things make a sound when you hit them. An empty space inside the instrument makes the sound louder. These are percussion instruments.
