Task 2 Read the text below. For assignments (6-10) choose the correct answer (A, B, C, D).

Football stars at school

Can you imagine being a famous football star but still attending school every Monday morning as usual? That's what some students at Ashton-on-Mersey School in England do!

The school is about 7 km from Old Trafford, the famous sports stadium that is home to Manchester United Football Club. The club takes talented teenagers from all over the world. These young players come to the club to train. Even though teenage players are following their dreams of being sports stars, football clubs recognize that education should still be an important part of their lives. After all, only a small number of young players will go on to have successful professional careers in the sport, because only the best ones go on to join the main team. And although footballers can play professionally from the age of 16, most don't join professional teams until they are older.

All football clubs have to make sure players under 18 are getting an education, but many choose to do this by organising classes at the club. At Manchester United, however, young players go to a normal school where they can enjoy at least some parts of typical teenage life. That's why at Ashton-on-Mersey School you can see people who played against Arsenal or Liverpool on Saturday sitting down to classes with all the other students on Monday morning.

The Manchester United students have classes two days a week and study a range of different subjects. The rest of the week, they are busy training and preparing for games. But they still follow the rules like all the other students in the school. They are encouraged to feel part of the school, and they are also expected to set a good example to younger students.

There are many benefits to the school from their arrangement with Manchester United. The football club has given money to the school, which has helped it to provide a better education for all its students. Perhaps more importantly, seeing successful young players in the school can encourage younger students to try hard to do well and achieve their own dreams. There are also unexpected benefits sometimes, too. Successful players often return to visit the school to give talks to students. When one French-speaking player came back to visit, he was invited to join a French class for the day, and students were all keen to ask him questions! Chatting to an international football star really helped the students improve their language skills!

- A) To save on educational costs
- B) To enjoy a typical teenage life and interact with other students
- C) To focus more on academics
- D) To prepare for university entrance exams

8. What is an indirect benefit that the general student body at Ashton-on-Mersey School gains from the presence of Manchester United players?

- A) Increased funding for better educational resources
- B) Opportunities to receive football training
- C) Exposure to various cultures and languages
- D) Motivation to excel and pursue their own dreams

9. How does the relationship between Ashton-on-Mersey School and Manchester United impact the school financially?

- A) It allows the school to charge higher tuition fees

- C) The football club donates money to the school
- D) The school saves money on sports equipment

When we think of Americans, we usually associate them with colourful clothes, noisy (22) and overweight. But what are they really like? What values do they have? It is not possible to answer this question (23) but it seems that some American characteristics are a legacy of the Puritan ideology.

The Puritans thought of themselves as a special people able to build 'a city upon a hill'. They considered their success and increasing (24) a sign of God's grace and did not respect those who (25). They promoted hard work, self-reliance and believed in man's (26) ability to make progress. Even today their ideas are still popular. The special significance of succeeding in life has come to characterize the American culture ever since.

Americans see their country as a vast continent of unlimited possibilities, the Promised Land where everyone has a chance to become perfect and (32). Success means money, hence Americans seem to be preoccupied with the thought of how to make money. Many of them still believe in the myth 'from rags to riches'. However, not everyone becomes a millionaire in the richest country in the world. The vast majority of Americans have their own house, a good car and a well-paid job. The less fortunate ones rent a sleazy apartment and live on unemployment benefits. It is also commonly accepted that in that country of welfare there are some people living in cardboard boxes, sleeping on the pavement and carrying their belongings in plastic bags.
