Star Wars: The Force Awakens

Finally, after years of waiting, fans are in for a real treat when they watch this film. Without wanting to give too much away, I can say that Luke Skywalker has gone missing and the baddies are in control of the galaxy. For those who saw the previous films, there are lots of familiar faces and there are a few new ones, too. Overall, this is a great film with some fantastic special effects and spectacular scenes that will impress, especially if you get to see it in 3D.

Length: 2 hours and 10 minutes

The Lady in the Van

This true story will have you laughing out loud! The Lady in the Van retells the tale of an elderly lady who parks outside the author Alan Bennett's house and lives in her van on his driveway for the next fifteen years. The award-winning actress Maggie Smith plays a grumpy old lady who insists on staying and becomes a feature of the neighbourhood. Her van is very old and dirty, but she manages to survive quite happily and has some very funny moments.

Length: 2 hours and 15 minutes

Inside Out

A film for the whole family that will make you laugh and also shed a tear. This film is all about how the brain might work if an animation team was in control of it. We see life from the point of view and mind of a young girl called Riley, who is growing up in the countryside. That is until her family have to move to a big city and then life becomes a lot harder. There are lots of hilarious and moving moments throughout the film, which will keep both adults and children entertained.

Length: 1 hour and 45 minutes
