Pandas

Pandas are bears that are native to China, where they are also known as a national treasure. Pandas are endangered animals as there are fewer than 1900 pandas living in the world. About 300 pandas live in the zoo so that they can be protected from their predators such as snow leopards and jackals, which are capable of killing and eating panda cubs.

However, the biggest cause of pandas being endangered is not their enemies in the wild, but every day human actions such as illegal hunting and cutting down the trees.

Pandas can grow up to 1.5 m tall and weigh as much as 150 kg. Most of the remaining wild pandas live in the Minshan and Qinling Mountains. These mountains have pandas' favourite food – bamboo. Other than that, pandas sometimes eat birds or rodents as well.

In general, pandas are peaceful animals. They may look harmless, but they have strong arms and powerful jaws and teeth. Besides, they are also skilled tree-climbers and good swimmers.

My City
A	Emily I live in New York and I love it! It has over eight million people who speak 800 different languages. Millions of visitors come here every year. I always travel around the city on foot, especially to places such as Times Square. It is one of the most famous and popular tourist sights in New York. Besides, it's only a ten-minute walk to Heli's Kitchen. This is the best place to can get delicious food from all over the world.
B	Sui Lee I'm from Shanghai, the biggest city in China. 24 million people live here. It's the second most popular city for tourists in China. The Bund is a great place to visit. You can see historical buildings and modern futuristic buildings. Also, you can enjoy the view if you take a boat tour along the river. I love going to Chenghuanmiao Old Street. This is where you can eat delicious local food.
C	Cindy I was born in London. It is the capital city of the UK and millions of tourists come here every year. London is famous for its red buses and tourists love using them to get around. Many companies offer bus tours around the tourist attractions. You can also see the city by taking a boat tour. My favourite place is Soho because there are lots of restaurants and exciting things to do and see there.
