

An email from Lucy

Dear Isabel,

I am attending the University of Boston. There are so many things to do and to see that it is difficult to find time to write emails. I have to study very hard, because my courses are complicated, and my English isn't very good yet.

One of my friends is Robert Anderson. I met him in one of my classes, we see each other in a class every day. He asks me to go somewhere to have a Coke and then he walks home with me. He invites me to go to the movies, and I have a date to go to a college dance with him. He is a very good dancer, so I'm very excited. Now I have to stop, because I have an appointment with my history professor. In my next letter I'm going to write more about my classes and my social life. Please give my regards to your family, and let me hear from you soon.
