Today, children in Great Britain (1) work. They go to school and (2) to learn things which they can use when they are older. Sometimes they have a part-time job in (3) they deliver newspapers or wash cars but this is (4) 'pocket money', which they spend on clothes or hobbies. However, in other parts of the world, children (5) as five are expected to work. The majority of (6) work on farms (7) they look after the animals or pick fruit and vegetables. Other children have to work in factories and the conditions can be very difficult. In Britain it (8) be like this. For example, my grandfather started working when he was fourteen. But things changed. People thought that if children (9) work, they could go to school to learn. Isn't this something that all children (10) be able to do?

Reading

- 7 Read the article about a sea rescue. Seven sentences are missing from the article. Choose from the sentences A–G the one which fits each gap.

Long distance rescue

Most people have heard of the Titanic. It was the largest passenger ship in the world and was launched in 1912, but on its very first voyage it hit an iceberg and sank in the Atlantic Ocean. Most of the 1,517 people on the ship died in the freezing water. (1) It is a very strange tale, but luckily it had a better ending than the story of the original Titanic.

Alex Evans works on a lifeboat in Wales and he spends a lot of his time rescuing people from the sea. They are usually swimmers or fishermen who are stuck on rocks when the sea comes in. These rescues are usually simple and don't require aeroplanes or international search-and-rescue operations. (2)

On Monday Alex was shopping with his mother when his mobile phone rang. He was surprised to get a signal and answered it. He was even more surprised to hear the voice of his friend Mark Corbett, who was on a motorboat in the Caribbean over 4,000 miles away. (3) He told Alex that the boat was sinking and they needed help! At first, Alex thought that it was a joke. (4) Then he heard the panic in Mark's voice and realised that it was a real emergency. Mark said that there was a lot of water in the boat and they had lost power. (5) He was using the satellite phone and the only number he could remember was Alex's!

Alex stayed calm and wrote down the information about where the boat was. (6) They sent out planes and three hours later they found Mark's boat and rescued them. (7) Maybe boat owners should avoid calling their boats Titanic in the future!
