Reading Comprehension

GET READY TO GET MESSY

The Orange Festival

It's a cool February afternoon in the small town of Ivrea, in Northern Italy. The streets are usually quiet, but today they're full of people as the four-day Orange Festival begins. The "Carnevale di Ivrea" is over 900 years old. It celebrates the story of a girl named Violetta.

She killed the town's evil leader and freed.

the people of Ivrea. The festival remembers the fight that took place between the people of Ivrea and the evil leader's soldiers. In the original fight, people threw rocks at the soldiers. Today, participants throw oranges at each other. Before they start, a young woman dressed as Violetta speaks to the people and gives them candy. After that, the orange fight begins! To participate, you need to join a team- you can be on a team of "freedom fighters" or soldiers. If you don't want to fight, you must wear a red hat. Then no one will throw oranges at you. When the fighting ends, there are oranges everywhere!

The Festival of Color

The Festival of Color, also called Holi, is a popular spring celebration from India. It takes place every year, usually in early or mid-March, and lasts at least two days. In Indian mythology, an evil woman tried to kill a young man named Prahlad by burning him in a fire. Because Prahlad was a good person, he escaped from the fire unhurt.

Today, people remember this event by lighting large fires in the streets on the night before Holi. The fire is a symbol of the end of all bad things. The next day, Holi celebrates the start of spring and a new beginning. To celebrate, people gather in the streets, and when they throw colored powder into the air, they say, "Holi Hai!" Others throw colored water or powder at each other. After the festival ends, the streets are filled with color and smiles!
